Sunset Bay Association Cookie Policy

March 31, 2024

When you visit any https://www.sunsetbayassociation.com site page, cookies may be placed on your computer by our service provider, WildApricot, or a third party. See the complete list of cookies placed by https://www.wildapricot.com below.

What is a cookie?

A cookie is a chunk of data – typically stored as a text file – that is placed on your computer or other devices when you visit a particular website.

The cookie is used to identify your device to the website when you visit again so the site can load your preferences, automatically accept your credentials, or otherwise personalize the experience.

Accepting cookies

Within your browser settings, you can choose whether to accept cookies. To access https://www.sunsetbayassociation.com, you are encouraged to enable cookies (which most browsers do by default). That way, we can remember you and tailor your experience to better suit your needs.

If you are using Safari as your browser, you should also enable cross-site tracking by disabling the Prevent Cross-Site Tracking option.

Third-party cookies

You can also separately control whether to accept third-party cookies – cookies placed by third party services that are integrated into the website you are visiting.

For example, third-party cookies are used by Google Analytics for tracking website traffic. You only need to enable third-party cookies only if you are using third-party services that require you to do so.

By default, Safari and Internet Explorer block third-party cookies, while Firefox and Chrome accept them. However, Safari and Internet Explorer will allow users to accept cookies from WildApricot, and other sites. Some firewalls or browser plug-ins may affect your browser's cookies settings.

Cookies placed when visiting sunsetbayassociation.com.

The following cookies may be placed on your computer when you visit https://www.sunsetbayassociation.com. They are used to better understand how we can improve our site and your experience on it. Refusing these cookies will prevent us from learning from your experience and tailoring it to better suit your needs.

Please note that although this list is up to date as of our last update, third-party cookies may change their names without warning. Although we may add new cookies to this list, it may not reflect the exact names of the cookies that you are being served. If you would like to know the exact name of all third-party cookies, please navigate to the linked sites to see what their cookies are currently called.

Our https://www.sunsetbayassociation.com site uses third-party services for internal activity tracking and collecting feedback, so a cookie from these services may also be placed on your computer. This can help improve the functionality and user experience of our website.

Obtaining consent to use cookies

A 2011 European Union privacy law requires websites to obtain consent from visitors before placing cookies on their devices. To obtain visitor consent, we have implemented the solution to inform you of our website's cookie use, and prompt you to change your settings to accept or reject them. To change your cookie preferences at any time, click on the "Cookie Preferences" link at the very bottom of our website.
